Social Media Policy

Please be advised that my professional ethics prohibits me from having virtual relationships with my counseling clients.

I, therefore, do not accept friend requests or connection requests of any kind on any social media sites from my counseling clients.

I do have professional websites and social media pages. You may follow me, follow my blog, receive my newsletters on these sites and pages. Do not post any comments on these sites or pages, however. If you do I will be forced to delete the post and remove you as a follower in order to protect your confidentiality as my counseling client.

If you are a coaching client, these policies are not applicable. Coaching clients, consultation clients and supervisees are free to connect with me via social media.
